THEY DON'T SMOKE, SO HOW COME?

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Antone Silva of Mayhew Road, Newark, smoke. How, then, did their bed catch fire on the night of November 7? That question, which might puzzle Philo Vance himself, is puzzling Mr. and Mrs. Silva.

Arriving home at approximately 8 p.m., Mrs. Silva, upon entering the house, smelled smoke. She rushed to the bedroom, and there saw her bed going up in flames. With the Newark Fire Department coming to the rescue, further loss was prevented.

Mr. Silva, arriving home shortly afterwards, was astonished to see a crowd and the fire engine.

But what astonished both of them, more than anything else, was the fact that a fire had started in their bed!

HUSKERS SUFFER SECOND DEFEAT

Playing all but one quarter of the game in a pouring rain, the Washington Huskers lost last Friday's game 12-0 to the speedy El Cerrito Gauchos.

The first half went El Cerrito's way, and in the second half the Huskers took over but were unable to push over a touchdown against them, although they got inside their opponents' 10-yard line.

Both teams fumbled repeatedly.

To date the Huskers have rated two wins, two ties and two losses. They are eager for the Armistice Day game with Livermore. Both teams are on their toes for this annual event sponsored by the American Legion. The Livermore fullback, Sam Tucchi, is reported to be worth eyeing.

The game will be played on the Livermore gridiron at 2:15.

COUNTRY CLUB HOLDS MEETING

A large crowd of interested women attended the lecture and exhibition of William Rice, famed artist, at the regular meeting of the Country Club of Washington Township last Tuesday.

As an additional part of the afternoon's entertainment, Mrs. Andrew Logan played several piano selections.

The business part of the meeting consisted of reports by various members. Mrs. R. L. Pond spoke on the need for volunteers and pies for the next visit of club members to the Hospitality House in Hayward November 18.

Mrs. Gladys Williamson reported on the proposed establishment of a bond booth in the clubhouse for the purpose of taking pledges for bonds. The tentative plan calls for someone to be in the bond booth at each meeting.

Also during the meeting Mrs. C. E. Martenstein told of the new past presidents group which has been active in making slippers for boys in the service hospitals. The club, incidentally, contributed $20 out of its fund for the Veterans Hospitals Christmas committee.

Mrs. Roland Bendel announced that a new project is to be started soon—the compilation of records from members, showing just how much time each has given to war service, youth co-operation and civic service.

It was voted to hold the December and January meetings on the second Tuesday of the month, rather than the customary first Tuesday.

Two more boys gone overseas—Pvt. CLIFFORD COSTA and Cpl. BOB ANDERSON. Both boys had been stationed at Camp Beale.

—V—

Technician 4 DAVID L. SOUZA, who served 33 months in the Southwest Pacific Theatre of war, returned home under the Army's Troop Rotation program for a furlough before reassignment to another station within the United States. —V—

Technician 5th Grade ALFRED J. WILD WEST RETURNS TO ALVARADO

Pistol-packin' mamma was reborn in Alvarado this week-end when Jennie Czupek, brandishing what appeared to be a .22 or .32 caliber nickel-plated gun, shot up the town in good old fashioned Western style. Jennie is the cook for the S. P. railroad section hands in Alvarado.

Picked up by deputy sheriffs on chrages of drunkenness and carrying a gun, Jennie was sentenced to five days in jail or a $10 fine by Judge Silva Monday on the drunkenness charge. She pleaded not guilty to carrying the gun and will be tried at a later date.

According to witnesses, Jennie entered the Alvarado Hotel at about 8:15 p. m. Sunday, and stayed a half hour. During that time she drove a Mexican out the door at the point of her gun. At the Silver Dollar she fired a shot out the door.

Her brief but eventful evening in town was cut short when deputy sheriffs arrested her.

POSTER, ESSAY CONTEST IN SCHOOLS

The community service committee of the Niles Ration Board announced this week that it is sponsoring an essay and poster contest in the public schools as part of an educational campaign to combat inflation.

With all of the 10 schools in the township participating, a grand prize will be offered for the best poster and the best essay.

Judges will be Ethel Grau, artist; Miss Grace Knoles, English instructor at the high school; and George Coit, chairman of the price panel of the ration board. The prizes will be war stamps which, it is hoped, will be donated by civic clubs and locals of labor unions. The contest will close November 15, entries to be judged after the Thanksgiving vacation.

YOUR XMAS GIFT TO SERVICE MEN

As the Christmas season approaches, the Camp and Hospital Committee of the Red Cross is making an urgent appeal to every person to join in the effort to bring cheer and happiness to service men in local hospitals recuperating from injuries received in their fight to make it possible for us at home to experience again a Christmas in a free country.

Money is needed to buy gifts that these service men have expressed a desire for and for those who will be on ships on Christmas day and not able to receive packages from their own families.

Other articles needed are games, traveling bags for those going on furloughs or being dismissed from hospitals, books, writing paper, toilet articles, coat hangers, widemouth flower containers, old sheets or other cotton materials that can be used for cleaning rags, canes and musical instruments.

Persons or organizations wishing to help are asked to contact Mrs. George Holeman at Centerville, local chairman. Several checks have already been received and numerous articles, but the need has not been filled.

HEARST RANCH CLOSES FOR WINTER MONTHS

The Old Hearst Ranch in Pleasanton, which has been open to golfers and swimmers the past few months, will be closed to the public after next Sunday. This announcement was made by J. A. Marshall, proprietor.

According to Mr. Marshall, the past season at the ranch has been the most successful in the ranch's history. During the past seven months more than 50,000 guests have been accommodated.

During the winter closing, the place will be remodeled and repaired, to open again March 31.

STUDENTS ORGANIZE PAN AMERICAN GROUP

The Social Studies class at Washington Union High School has formed a group to study Pan Americanism. The group will hold a meeting every Friday to better acquaint students with South American countries.

The president of the new organization is William Rauch; president pro-tem, Norvil Peixotto; secretary, Ramona Espinosa; assistant secretary, Jackie Kitching; sergeant-at-arms, Charles Willis; editor, Charlotte Janeiro. The leader of the group will be Emmett Roberts, instructor.

IRVINGTON MAY HAVE YOUTH RECREATION CENTER

A supervised recreation center for young people of Irvington may not be far off, if plans, formulated at the last meeting of the P.T.A. of Irvington, are carried out to a successful conclusion.

The discussion brought to light several different factors which have to be considered, however, before the project can get under way—location of the center for one thing, and the necessity of finding a capable supervisor, for another.

A committee was formed for the purpose of contacting different organizations of Irvington to enlist their financial support of the project—The Firemen's Auxiliary, the Y.L.I., the Ladies Aid Guild, the I.D.E.S., and the S.P.R.S.I., and the Air Raid Wardens. Those on the committee are Mrs. R. A. Griffin, Mrs. George Scamman and Mrs. Walter Connolly.

Also during the meeting, Mrs. Bessie Olaci, cafeteria committee chairman, reported that over 200 children were eating in the cafeteria, more than the present staff can adequately care for. It was suggested, therefore, that mothers pledge themselves to help out in the cafeteria one day a week. The suggestion was approved.

The next P.T.A. meeting, December 7, will be in the form of a tea, welcoming teachers and new members.

PAYMENT OF TAXES EXCEEDS LAST YEAR

Payment of Alameda County and City of Oakland taxes exceed last year's collection for the corresponding first week by more than ten per cent, according to County Tax Collector Earl J. Twomey. To date $620,269.40 has been received of the twenty million dollars in taxes to be collected in two installments, the first of which becomes delinquent December 5. In greater number than in prior years, property owners are paying both installments at once, says Twomey. Persons who wish to have their tax bills mailed to them should make their request in writing, giving a full legal description of their property, or enclosing their bill of a prior year. Payments by mail are also urged by Twomey, who has a special department in charge of the mailed requests and receipts.

TURKEY PRIZE AT IRVINGTON TONIGHT

Someone will be the lucky winner of a turkey tonight at the P.T.A. card party being held at the Irvington School auditorium.

Three kinds of card games will be played, with prizes for each game. There will be whist, pedro and bridge.

Miss Irma Bond, who has charge of arrangements, promises an evening of fun for all, with a whole array of interesting prizes donated by merchants.

MARRIOTT IS NEXT BOND CHAIRMAN

Loren Marriott, Centerville banker, will be chairman of the Sixth War Loan Drive, it was announced this week.

As yet Marriot has made no definite plans for the drive, but a meeting of town chairman has been set tentatively for next week. After this meeting plans will be announced.

Five grandchildren survive, and a sister in the Azores. He was a native of Pico, the Azores, and a member of the Centerville I.D.E.S.

RAINFALL HEAVIER SO FAR THIS YEAR

According to the rain gauge at the Southern Pacific station in Niles, this season has been a bit damper to date than last year.

Last year at this time the rainfall was .94 of an inch. This year the total through November 9 is 3.49 inches.

OUR WORLD TODAY

Tomorrow, Armistice Day, many of us will pause and utter a silent prayer for victory and peace. In line with this thought, we publish the poem below, which was written by Nell Farrington Meyers, our local poetess. She must have had some strange premonition when she composed this, because it was first published in the Monterey Park Progress in November, 1937.

The great war lords have buckled on their swords,
And bombing planes go soaring through the sky:
Dictators, lusty, swell with hate—and so
Brave men must die!

While instigators gird themselves for war—
Their women meekly pray, and toil, and weep;
Resenting sacrifice of flesh and blood
For guns to reap.

If governments would strive for Peace and take
Munitions makers' profits out of wars
All future generations then, could cheat
The man from Mars!

There'd be no battle fields, no unmarked graves
No human flesh to feed grim, ruthless guns,
If mothers of all nations would deny
Life to more sons!

America has paid the price of wars,
Gave of her noble sons—and hoarded gold;
While world war debtors plan their future strife,
We're growing old!

Brave veterans who only march with time;
White crosses mutely standing, greet the morn;
While wars and moratoriums are made,
More sons are born!

Oh, Master over strife and Destiny
Grant us assurance future conflicts cease;
And guide the troubled nations of this earth
To fight for Peace!

Nell Farrington Meyers

FOLK DANCERS MAKE MERRY AT SHOEMAKER

The boys in Ward D2 at Shoemaker Hospital had more fun last Sunday afternoon than they've had, probably, since they've been in the hospital.

This was because a group of gay folk-dancers, who were secured by the ward's sponsor, the Business and Professional Women's Club, put on a lively entertainment that brought cries of "More!" from the interested invalids.

The folk dancers, four married couples, belong to a group of dancers in San Mateo, who are directed by Miss Shirley Smith of the San Mateo Recreation Department. They were garbed in gay peasant costumes, and they went through their paces with admirable ease and great enjoyment. Most of the dances were of the American folk dance variety.

Miss Celeste Bunker, chairman of activities, felt that her efforts in procuring the group of dancers were well repaid.

After the entertainment the boys were treated to ice cream, cookies, and apples. Six members of the club made the trip to the hospital.

CORPUS CHRISTI TO GIVE PARTY

The annual card party for the benefit of the Sunday School Fund of Corpus Christi parish will be given on Monday evening, December 18.

Look before you eat!

Try buying brilliantly colored fall fruits and vegetables when they are firm and slightly underripe. Use them as table and home decorations while they're reaching full maturity—then turn them into delicious health-building food.

Let your imagination run riot—even the most casual arrangement will sometimes produce the most dramatic effect.

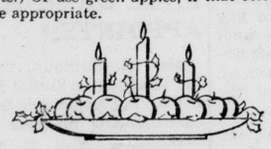
Arrange apples—shiny and red—in a pedestal or low bowl, and tuck among them three sprigs of ivy, of different lengths. (It's a safe rule always to use some kind of foliage in these arrangements.) Or use green apples, if that color seems more appropriate.



For a centerpiece, hang garlands of grapes over the stem of a richly yellow pumpkin. Rest the pumpkin on a circle of brown leaves. Flank it with tall orange candles.

String three grapefruit, of graduated sizes, on a balloon stick, (or attach one to another with toothpicks). Tuck ivy or lemon leaves between the fruit and around the bottom. Use flower frog to stand the arrangement upright.

Stand a large eggplant, stem up, on any flat dish. Hang a cluster of grapes from the stem, and surround the eggplant with lemons, and stand a few bananas around it if they are available. "Garnish" with ivy leaves.

Armistice Day

On Armistice Day of this year we will be thinking more of the present war than of that war whose ending is commemorated on November 11.

All our holidays are hallowed by men. Armistice Day by those who fought in the last war. Yet this year we think not so much of those men as we think of their sons now on battlefields and ships and in hospitals and training camps.

Today we read a letter from a soldier in the South Pacific to his parents. The boy's discouragement shone through his words. He has been away from the United States for three years. He has been expecting to be home soon through the Army's system of rotation. But he had learned that he would not be sent home, and he was discouraged.

Let's consider this boy, and the millions of others like him. They come into manhood during the depression. Their adolescent and adult life have held two outstanding experiences—unemployment and war. What will be their next experience, after this war is finished?

We must not bring them back simply to a return to the past. Conditions of the past will not be good enough. They must return to a country economically sound where there are good jobs. We do not want them to come back to us expecting to be favored—and they will not—but still we will favor them. Our obligation is to reward them for the rest of their lives for what they are doing now. We can do this by giving them good jobs and good living conditions.

In the international field the ideal of permanent world peace must not be buffeted on one side by power politics among nations and on the other side by isolationism. We must make sure that no potential military resources be left for Germany or Japan. We must spare their sons from a third world war.

Our men in the armed forces can do only the physical work of winning this war. We at home have to do the rest of the job. And if we at home fail, they have failed.

The Japanese Problem

American-born Japanese cannot legally be prevented, under the constitution, from returning to California once the military prohibition against their residence here is lifted. But the problem is not simply one of law codes.

The Japanese problem has its roots deeper than racial misunderstanding, sharpened by the Jap attack against the United States. In California it is an old story; otherwise, the feeling against the Japs would be tempered more than it is by the fact that thousands of them are serving the United States loyally in the armed forces.

The story of Japanese in California before the war is that of a large concentrated minority, unassimilable and acquisitive, with a standard of living lower than its neighbors. The result was the pre-emption by the Japanese of certain vital parts of the state's economy and a friction that overflowed from the economic to other areas of human contact. This situation was not healthy for either California or the Japanese, and many believe that a return to it after the war should be avoided.

If the loyal Japanese remaining here could be induced to disperse throughout the United States after the war instead of concentrating in one area, the problem might largely solve itself. That is an educational job, and one that the War Relocation Authority could well tackle now at the camps maintained by it for the Japanese.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

There was hope in high official quarters a short time ago that we could celebrate a double Armistice Day this year — commemorating not only the end of World War I, but the end of the European phase of World War II.

The present stubborn resistance of Nazi troops, even though the war is now being fought on German territory, apparently has shattered such hopes, but the outlook, nonetheless, is not unpromising.

We at home, no matter how serious our problems may be, have reason to be thankful—that we have not been ravaged as other lands, that our country is still intact, and that we can still till our fields without fear of being cut down by enemy planes overhead.

It is not discounting the seriousness of the present and post-war problems which confront us to recognize that we have been signally blessed of all the great nations on earth. Robot bombs have not scorched our earth, nor destroyed our cities. Enemy ships have not bombarded us, nor enemy planes bombed us. Of all the big nations of the civilized world, we alone have been spared war's devastation.

To be sure, our economy has been disrupted; we have paid and paid and paid for bureaucratic excesses, and for the cost of the war now being waged by our troops against our enemies.

But here at home, we have not eaten K-rations; we have not slept in slit trenches, praying that the bombs or machine gun fire would miss us. We have been spared that.

And on this Armistice Day—and on the Thanksgiving Day which follows—every farmer, every lawyer and business man should not only render thanks to God, but should pay homage in his heart to the American boys who have kept us safe and guaranteed our security from our enemies.

So that we might escape the devastation of war, tens of thousands of our youth have given their lives. Tens of thousands of others have been crippled and maimed—and millions have made sacrifices beyond anything we can know.

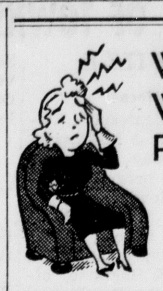
This Armistice Day — and on Thanksgiving Day, too—let's forget any sacrifices we may have made. Let's be humble—and grateful to the men who are defending us.

The problems which will confront us during the post-war readjustment years, in many respects, will be more difficult than the problems of war, but a united nation—determined to keep faith with its fighting men—can go a long way toward solving them.

Farmers, knowing full well that the big earnings of war-time will not be duplicated in the years of adjustment, owe it to themselves and their country to husband their resources so that they will have funds to meet tomorrow's exigencies, and so that they can make badly needed repairs and replacements when materials and supplies are again available.

Farmers, too, can cushion the shock of the change-over from war conditions to a peace time economy by keeping a weather eye on the future and not getting caught with over-expanded operations which can't be supported under normal conditions.

Let's try to bring our boys back to a solvent America, so that they will be able to say: "This was worth fighting for!"



What Shall We Have For Dinner?

This week's recipes contributed by Mrs. Douglas Cushman of Mission San Jose.

Something easy and delicious! That is the kind of recipe every woman, busy with war work, is searching for these days. This week we have just the thing for you. All the ingredients are easy to find; there is a minimum of effort involved; and it is a dish fit for an epicure.

It is a recipe for risotto, a favorite Italian dish, and not used nearly enough in American homes. It was contributed by Mrs. Douglas Cushman of Mission San Jose.

Mrs. Cushman and her husband have traveled extensively—all over the world. They have sampled cooking from many lands. Thus, when Mrs. Cushman says a dish is good, she ought to know.

Her experience, however, is not limited to the mere sampling of food. She is well able to prepare it. Indeed, guests at her home will tell you that she is a superb cook. The fact that her father was a Genoese and her mother a New Englander may have something to do with it.

Before the war, when the Cushmans were able to get help, they entertained as many as 160 persons at their lovely home in the Mission. Now, however, because Mrs. Cushman finds herself without any help whatsoever—she does the gardening too—her entertaining is on a smaller scale and less frequent. Right at present she prefers to have not more than eight guests to dinner.

Chop one large dry onion. Fry straw-brown in iron frying pan in olive oil or peanut oil.

Add one small clove of chopped garlic and parsley, with a little fresh (if you have it) or dry marjoram.

Add one cup of broth. Chicken broth is good, although beef cubes, made into broth, will do.

Remove from stove and add grated cheese, either Parmesan or hard dry jack cheese. Serves four.

With this, serve green vegetables and salad. And for dessert? How about trying this delicious Zabaglioni, which Mrs. Cushman says is easy to make, if YOU COOK IT JUST TO THE PROPER STAGE.

For each person, you will need one egg, one tablespoonful of sugar, and one tablespoonful of sherry.

Beat yolks of eggs, add sugar, and beat mixture until light. Add sherry. Put in double boiler and cook over hot fire, beating constantly, until the mixture is thick (about 8 or 10 minutes). Do not overcook, or the mixture will curdle. Remove from stove and add only half of the egg whites, beaten to a peak. (Save the rest—for macaroons perhaps). Cool, and serve with lady-fingers or sponge cake.

BOYS' ATHLETIC CLUB NEWS

By Leonard Dutra

The Alvarado A and B football teams played the Warm Springs A and B teams on October 24. The A team score was Warm Springs 18, Alvarado 0. The B team game was a scoreless tié. The captain of the Warm Springs A team was Albert "Tiny" Durazo. The captain of the Alvarado team was Vernon Machado. Gilbert Faria was the Alvarado B team captain.

Our football teams played against Centerville on November 2. The A team lost 30 to 12 and the B team lost 12 to 0.

The end of the month of October found Vernon's Lions leading in the daily gamse competition with a total score of 212 against Bradley's Wildcats' 182. Bradley's Wildcats had to give the Lion a party. A grand time was enjoyed by all both winners and losers. Captain Bradley's committee arranged five boxing bouts as entertainment and afterwards put on a swell feed of ice cream, soda pop, and potato chips.

In the regular Boy's Club meeting of November 1, the boys chose Richard Faria as the new sergeant-at-arms to take the place of Herbert Smith who moved away. The two new captains for the month of November are Abel Villarreal and Teddy Petersen.

Teddy chose the following boys on his side: Bradley Martinez, Vernon Machado, Benito Garcia, Richard Faria, Raymond Moreno, Clyde Davis, Joseph Silva, Glenn Bachelder, Gilbert Faria, Leonard Dutra, Eugene Jardin, Mervin Perry, Henry Aandrade, Stanley Anderson, Elmer Andrade, Bobby Wasley. They are calling themselves "Teddy's Air Devils." Abel's side are: John Ledesma, Carlos Renteria, Gilbert Cicairos, Gilbert Villarreal, Teodosio Alasio, Louis Alvarado, George Aranda, Joe Leon, George Apodaca, Robert Preciado, Harold Martinez, Joaquin Preciado, Leroy Alvarado, Felix Ybarra, Vernon Perry, Arlen Amaral.

Abel's side chose the name of "Black Cobras." Te "Black Cobras" say they do not agree with the "Air Devils" when they say they are the better team.

We have been learning to play volleyball and basketball. All the boys like volleyball very much. Now we can see why volleyball is the most popular game in the Arm.

We wish to thank Mrs. Lucas for shortening the volleyball net so that it fits our court properly.

Wining and Dining

By ROBERT MAYOCK

With the arrival of autumn, gourmets are dragging out their duck presses, brochette irons and cherished old wines. There is a party somewhere every week and trenchermen are falling off their diets like autumn leaves off a sycamore. I'm doing what I can to discourage the movement by eating each host out of house and home. In this way I hope to prevent the movement from reaching epidemic proportions; I'm a crusader and I only hope my constitution lasts.

Mayock

Saturday evening Arnold Fox gave a dinner party for 12. Mr. Fox is a great admirer of the better California wines and has been conducting a one-man educational crusade for about eight years now. Each Christmas he selects about 50 cases of California wines from various wineries and sends mixed cases to friends all over the country. With each case he sends a description of each wine and information about the winery and district where the grapes were produced. Parenthetically, he is the first graduate of my "Gentlemen Vintners School."

HORS D'OEUVRES

Stuffed olives wrapped in bacon and broiled on toothpicks, clam souffle, cheese souffle and champagne Valdevieso 1931. With the soup we were served an old Madeira.

Sauted sweetbreads followed, with a very fine red wine. We were asked to guess its origin and age. Nearly everyone placed it as a California pinot of about eight years. It was actually a Chilean pinot of 19 years and then the argument broke forth. My wife tells me that I waxed very loud, if not eloquent, and that I never did give up; being taken home hours later still disputing that the wine could have been that old.

MOUTON ROTHSCHILD

In 1855, when the Bordeaux wine jury classified all the Bordeaux wines, it placed Mouton Rothschild fifth in the list, only giving it first place in the second-group. The proprietor was so outraged that he adopted the following motto:

"Premier ne puis
Second ne daigne
Mouton Suis."

Which translated means:
"I cannot be first,
I do not deign to be second.
I am Mouton!"

And so it has been for nearly a century. Mr. Fox served us a 1934 Mouton with the filet and it was a grand wine. Round, mellow, possessed of a great vigor yet as suave and delicate as a wine can be. I concede that it will take California vintners a few years yet to produce such a wine.

CHEESE AND DESSERT

A large cheese plate was passed around, containing a Liederkranz, a blue mold and a mellow Camembert. Then came a sauce of flaming brandy for the ice cream and a black coffee with cognac.

It may seem to the uninitiated that the party was almost over at this point—and normally it would have been. But sometimes a chance word will awaken all the flagging enthusiasm of a group. Well such a thing happened that night as we sipped the cognac. Commander Rixford mentioned that he had a half gallon of inherited Negley brandy in his cellar.

Did you ever see the bull respond to the red flag and rush wretchedly up to his destruction in the bull-ring? Even so did yours truly! I forgot about the age of the Chilean wine. I forgot about my age, my ability to absorb punishment and particularly my then, precarious condition. I arose in my titanic majesty as the world shrunk to one small half gallon bottle. I was magnanimous; I would accompany Commander Rixford home to procure said half-gallon bottle. So away we sped into the night and a San Francisco fog. It might be more accurate to admit that there were at least two fogs. Back we came to the dinner table in triumph.

I could tell more but I will not. Suffice it that the Negley brandy stands alone among the fabulous California brandies which have survived until the present day. It far surpasses the famous brandy of Senator Stanford or the brandy of Lucky Baldwin. The last of it was made about 60 years ago and I only know of two bottles remaining, one in San Jose and a certain remnant of a half gallon belonging to Mr. Fox' guest, Commander Rixford.
